

DEMOCRATS HAD A GREAT RALLY

4,000 PERSONS HEAR SPEAKERS IN SPITE OF BAD WEATHER.

MARSHALL RECEIVES WARM RECEPTION

Speech of Senator Hoke Smith the "Hit of Day"—All Phases of Democratic Administration.

The Democrats had a great day in Maryville yesterday. For a time it seemed that the preparations made for a big crowd would be wasted on account of the threatening weather. But it developed that it takes more than rain to keep the people from a Democratic rally in this year of our Lord.

When the speakers' party reached the big tent yesterday afternoon they faced a magnificent crowd of perhaps 4,000 people. Every place in the big tent, which seats 3,500, was occupied and many stood up while others remained on the outside. County Chairman M. E. Ford introduced Hon. A. M. Dockery as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Dockery, after a few remarks, introduced Hon. Charles M. Hay of St. Louis as the first speaker.

Hay Speaks for Gardner.

Mr. Hay spoke in the interest of Fred D. Gardner, the Democratic nominee for governor. Mr. Hay is a former member of the state legislature from Callaway county, and has been one of the foremost dry leaders in the state. He explained that he had done what he could to secure the nomination of Hon. John M. Atkinson, but that he is now working just as earnestly for Mr. Gardner. He spoke of his high Christian character, his great business capacity and his popularity among those with whom he had worked and toiled from a poor boy to his present position. He assured the people that they could depend upon Col. Gardner to enforce the laws. He made a most excellent impression, and proved himself a speaker of big league caliber.

Great Applause for Marshall.

When the vice president arrived, Mr. Hay gave way to him. Mr. Marshall was greeted with a roar of enthusiastic applause, and at once proceeded with his great speech. He said it is a peculiar and difficult campaign in which to speak, for the reason that there are no issues. Mr. Hughes has indulged in a good deal of criticism but has offered nothing concrete for discussion. He has said that the things President Wilson has done should not have been done, but no one so far has been able to get out of him the least suggestion of what he would have done even with the advantage of later developments to guide his judgment. Mr. Marshall spoke for an hour and a quarter to a most attentive audience, and was met with frequent applause as his keen wit and clean humor drove home shaft after shaft of earnest argument. "It is a first privilege with every man," declared the vice president, "to be a partisan, but it is his first duty to be a patriot." He pictured some of the great difficulties under which Woodrow Wilson had labored for the welfare and the peace and happiness of the people, how he had succeeded in the final results, though he may have made slight mistakes of detail, and pleaded with the people to be grateful enough and patriotic enough to retain the great man who has had but one thought and that has been the welfare of the people of the United States. He paid a high compliment to Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and to Representative Booher of this district, and asked that they be returned to support the president in the great work he is doing.

Dockery Follows.

At the close of Mr. Marshall's address, former Governor Dockery, always a favorite with Nodaway countians, made a short talk of about thirty minutes. There are no better campaigners than Alexander Dockery, and no man who can drive in homely truths with more force. He referred briefly to national affairs, and then spoke for the state ticket. He reminded those who would criticize that when the Republicans gave up control of the state forty-four years ago, they left a debt of more than $40,000,000 upon the people, for which the state had not received a penny of value. This debt had been paid off during Democratic rule, and the last of the bonds were paid and burned during his administration as governor of this state. Gov. Dockery is a business man himself, and is now in charge of one of the greatest business institutions of the government. He is third assistant postmaster general, an office that has charge of the financial operations of the post-office department and of the postal savings banks. He paid a high tribute to the business ability and high character of Col. Fred D. Gardner, candidate for governor, and contrasted the business records of the Democratic and Republican parties in the state of Missouri. Gov. Dockery's talk was short, but it was full of substance, and aroused a great deal of comment.

Good Crowd at Night.

At the night meeting Judge John M. Dawson presided. The big tent was again filled. The crowd gathered as early as 7 o'clock, and for an hour and a half enjoyed moving pictures depicting the progress of the St. Louis national convention, followed by pictures of the president and members of his cabinet.

Hon. Frank McAllister, candidate for attorney general, was first introduced and briefly discussed state issues. Mr. McAllister called attention to some of Judge Lamm's inaccuracies and misrepresentations. Instead of the school children having been robbed, he showed that the public schools of the state had been given under the present state administration more than six hundred thousand dollars more than they had ever been given before, and that the state university and the normal schools had been allowed more than they had ever been allowed before. He quoted the figures, showing that Nodaway county's apportionment this year is $4,000 greater than it was in 1912.

Missouri's Great School Fund.

He declared that Missouri has the greatest school fund of any state, and that it has the lowest per capita tax rate, which makes the charge of extravagance and wasting money absurd and ridiculous. The per capita tax rate in Missouri is $1.81. In Iowa it is $2.75, in Kansas $3.05, and in Illinois about $6.00. Mr. McAllister produced many figures to prove his contention, and dared Judge Lamm to dispute a single one of them.

United States Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia was next introduced. Senator Smith began by saying that, owing to the lateness of the hour, he would not make his real speech, and many wondered, after he was through, how the real one could have been better than the substitution.

A Great Speech.

Senator Smith made one of the greatest speeches ever heard in Maryville. It was logical, forceful, good natured and effective. He reviewed briefly the great work of the administration in congress, and showed how it had been the purpose and desire of the administration to shape every law to the benefit of the great majority instead of for the benefit of a few selected interests. He told of an interview with a Russian ambassador. The Russian idea is the rule of the few, the enrichment of the few, the promotion of the few and the distribution of governmental favors among the people according to the pleasure and whims of these few. He said every nation had to face that theory of government, and even the United States had not been free from it.

Tariff On This Theory.

When the Democrats came into power they found a tariff constructed on that theory. There was no question (Continued on Page 2.)

GORMAN BOY CAUGHT SEARCH U. S. SEAS

YOUNGSTER FOUND AT TARKIO WITH STOLEN MULES.

ACT SURPRISES FATHER HAVE A DOUBLE DUTY

Cannot Understand Motive of Boy, Who Seems Studious and Quiet—Believes Others Are in League.

Merrill Gorman, 13-year-old son of Lee Gorman, living near Quitman, was arrested last night on a charge of stealing a span of mules from J. D. Montgomery, and also a span of mules from James Strickler, a buggy from Floyd Brown, and a part of a set of harness from Tom Montgomery, all in that community.

The young boy was caught at Tarkio yesterday afternoon when he made an effort to dispose of one span of mules to the live stable there. Sheriff Ed Wallace and Deputy Sheriff E. C. Moberly, who is a candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, had called up all the towns close by, to be on the look out for the party. Sheriff Wallace and Mr. Moberly went over after him this morning and arrived in Maryville this afternoon about 1:30 o'clock.

The mules and the buggy were taken Wednesday night, while the Montgomery harness was taken some three months ago. This harness had been hidden by the boy in a ditch on the Gorman place, and on this night had been put in the Brown buggy, where it was found by the officers.

The boy admits taking the mules and buggy, and the county authorities are of the opinion that some one was managing it for him. He would not tell the officers either who it was or whether it was true.

Young Gorman, with his father, Prosecuting Attorney Sawyers, Sheriff Wallace, J. D. Montgomery and Joe Carden were in conference in the office of Prosecuting Attorney Sawyers this afternoon.

Mr. Gorman was in the office of the sheriff this morning waiting for news of his boy.

"Yes, I am his father," he said, questioned regarding the stealing. "I have no idea what made him do such a thing—at least, I have nothing for publication. I knew nothing about the affair until we missed the boy the next morning. The night before he was sitting at the table with the rest of the family. He studied his lessons for the next day, and then went to bed. I do not think that he is capable of managing the stealing all by himself, and I am personally of the opinion that it is a plain case of kidnapping. Some older persons are hiding behind my boy, and he is getting all of the blame."

The wonder of the whole thing is that a boy could plan and execute the details of the stealing and manage to get so far away without detection. Especially was this considered so as one of the mules is an outlaw and very difficult for a man to handle.

Merrill has always been a quiet studious boy. He attends Carden school, near Quitman, and is a good student. He will be locked up in jail for the present and will probably be sent to the reform school at the next term of court.

SENATOR CUMMINS COMING

Iowa Senator Will Speak Here Thursday, Oct. 26, at the Court House.

The Republican county central committee announces that United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa has been secured to speak in Maryville Thursday, October 26, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. He will speak at the court house. Mr. Cummins is an able man and a pleasing speaker.

Judges Blackford and Farnan of the county court went to near the Palestine church, southwest of Maryville, to look over the proposition of building a new bridge there.

FIFTEEN AMERICAN DESTROYERS PATROLLING ATLANTIC COAST.

HAVE A DOUBLE DUTY

Must Protect Country's Neutrality, and Save Any Passengers and Crews On Disabled Ships.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The secretary of the navy announced that American destroyers had been sent out in search of any belligerents on the submarine base of the Atlantic coast and would conduct an investigation of the very northern extremity of the United States coast.

A dispatch from Newport says that fifteen United States destroyers are today patrolling the Atlantic coast all the way from New York to Maine to perform the double duty of protecting American neutrality and for the purpose of saving any passengers or seamen on ships that may be sunk by the German submarines.

German Submarine Near.

Newport, Oct. 13.—Following a report that a German submarine had been sighted off New England, the United States destroyers dashed off to sea full steam.

TWO BRIDGES FOR NODAWAY

New Structure Will Be Placed at Road Near Corken Farm, Near Burlington Junction.

The farmers living west of the river at Burlington Junction will not have to drive out of their way very much longer to get to town, as two bridges will soon span the Nodaway channel at the upper and lower roads.

The county court met with a number of citizens and farmers last week and carefully went over the ground where the proposed bridges were to be located. After returning to Maryville the court decided to move the north bridge from the old river to the new channel, locating it near the place where the temporary structure was washed away. This is several hundred feet north of the John Tibbetts place, and is considered the best location for the bridge. Farmers from northwest of town will then be able to use a direct route and the road will be graded up and put in good shape. It is planned to begin moving the bridge during this month.

A new steel bridge will be placed on the south road near the Corken farm. The specifications call for a 120-foot span with 18-foot steel approaches on each end. These bids will be opened October 24.

These two bridges have long been needed and will certainly be welcomed by all who use either the north or south road into town. A trestle will be constructed across the old river near the Spangler farm to take the place of the steel bridge that will be moved. As there is but very little water in the old river above Mill creek a steel bridge is hardly needed there.—Burlington Junction Post.

TWO SUITS FILED TODAY

Divorce Suit of Martha and Dermont Murphy and an Ex Parte Partition Suit Latest Cases.

Another divorce suit filed for the January term of circuit court was that of Martha Murphy vs. Dermont Murphy. The petition alleges non-support and abuse. The plaintiff asks for alimony and the custody and care of three minor children.

A Thomas J. Cunningham, Martha R. Cunningham, ex-parte partition suit, was filed in the circuit clerk's office today. The heirs want the estate sold and the money divided. The land is south of Conception.

E. E. Williams left last night for La Harpe, Ill., called there by the death of his aunt.

FRANK SCHUMACHER BACK

Arrives From Laredo On 21-Day Furlough—Looks "None the Worse for Wear."

Frank Schumacher arrived last night from Laredo on a twenty-one days furlough, and will visit his father, N. Schumacher, and his brothers and sisters. Frank, who was a member of the Maryville band, was ordered to the border last June, and has since been on duty as corporal.

With the exception of a heavy coat of tan, Frank looks "none the worse for wear," and is an admirable example of what army discipline can do for a man. He said that the Fourth regiment would go on guard duty this week. They will guard 80 miles of the border.

MRS. G. B. M'FARLANE DIES

Former State Regent of Daughters of American Revolution Succumbs to Heart Disease—Well Known Here

Mrs. Alice O'Rear MacFarlane, widow of former State Supreme Judge George B. MacFarlane, died Wednesday at St. Luke's Hospital of heart disease. She resided at 6176 Berlin avenue and was 60 years old.

The body was taken Thursday afternoon to Mexico, Mo., her former home, for burial Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in Woodland Cemetery.

Mrs. MacFarlane was former State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and at the time of her death was chairman of the National Committee of the order for prevention of desecration of the flag.—St. Louis Republic.

Mrs. MacFarlane is a cousin of E. G. O'rear, and was well known in Maryville, having founded the local chapter of the D. A. R. Mrs. J. E. Thornton of Columbia, where Mrs. MacFarlane lived for some years, pays her the following tribute:

"In the death of Mrs. Alice O'Rear MacFarlane, Columbia loses a faithful friend. Few women who have made Columbia a home for fifteen or twenty years have been more zealous in their loyalty to the city and interested in its progress."

Dawson Depot Burglarized.

A crate of lard and some flour was stolen from the Dawson depot Monday night. The thieves opened a window and easily made away with their booty. The merchandise was consigned to John Adams, who conducts a store at Dawsonville.—Burlington Junction Post.

Epworth League Market.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a market Saturday at Bowler's hardware store. Good things for your Sunday dinner. 13

Capture of Important Greek City From Bulgars Imminent—British Using Conscription.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Oct. 12.—That the capture of the important Greek city, Seres, from the Bulgars by the British is imminent is indicated by official advices reaching here today from Saloniki. The British cavalry column has reached the outskirts of Seres, dispersing the Bulgars that tried to stop it.

Conscription Applied.

A more drastic application of conscription to England will result in a probable attempt to extend it to Ireland, as seen from a speech made in the house of commons by Secretary Lloyd-George last night.

Paris, Oct. 13.—A squadron of forty French-British aeroplanes bombarded the great Mauser gun works at Obtdorfonnekar, in Germany. The German aeroplanes ascended and a big sky engagement followed in which the German machines were shot down. Four tons of explosives dropped down on the Mauser works, and it is believed that extensive damage was done. Two artillery duels were reported in four sectors on the western front, and there was minor infantry fighting and big gun exchanges throughout the night. The sectors Morvan and Bouchavesnes, on the Somme and in the vicinity of Blaincourt and Chaulnes. Elsewhere the night was calm.

To Declare War.

London, Oct. 13.—A formal declaration of war is expected to be made by the revolutionary government of Greece against the Bulgarians.

RECEIVE REPLY TODAY.

British-French Note Insists On Right to Seize All Open Mail.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The British-French reply to the American protest against the seizures of the mails was presented today. Both countries contended that they had a right to seize all the open mail passing their ports.

Father John of St. Joseph is visiting friends in Maryville today.

tion about that, for the Republican party had divided on those issues. They had set about to revise it so as to raise revenue and to promote the general welfare. To distribute the opportunities and give every man a chance. Tariff inequalities must be adjusted as conditions change, and when the war in Europe closes, if there are adjustments that need to be made, they will be promptly made so as to protect the interests of the people and harm no legitimate business enterprise.

They had found an antiquated banking law that allowed a few big concerns in New York to control and manipulate the finances of the country to their own advantage. When the war in Europe broke suddenly, congress took the old skeleton known as the Aldrich-Vreeland act, which had never been usable, and amended it so as to make it workable for the emergency. They put flesh on it and breathed life into it and set it into operation until the new federal reserve act could be set into operation. So a panic was prevented.

Takes Up Acts of Congress.

And so, one by one, he took up the various great acts of congress and showed how they had been shaped with a view to the public welfare without harm to any legitimate business, great or small.

Calls Progressives On Carpet.

He called the Progressives on the carpet, and reminded them of what they had asked for in their platform in 1912. They had asked for an income tax, and the Democrats had given it to them. They had asked for a tariff board, and the Democrats had given it to them. They had asked for a rural credit law, and the Democrats had given it to them. They had asked for a revision of the tariff in the interest of the people, and the Democrats had given it to them. He called their attention to the fact that the same men who had controlled the Republican convention in 1912 had nominated Mr. Hughes, and asked why, if they wanted to be progressive, they should not vote for the man who is progressive and has helped them to the things they wanted.

Plain Talk to Farmers

He mentioned some of the great measures in the interests of the farmers. The features of the currency law allowing new privileges in securing loans with national banks and in allowing farm loans to be discounted with a margin of six months, the great rural credit law which he hoped would enable every farmer and every tenant to some day own the land he tilled, the warehouse bill allowing farmers to store their products when they desire and borrow money on the warehouse receipts, the agricultural extension act carrying the benefits of the agricultural college to the homes of the people, and others, and asked them why they should want a change. What they could hope to gain by voting to put out the men who had done all these things for them?

Goes Into Mexican Situation.

He went into the Mexican situation and asked them to remember that there are fifteen million people in Mexico. A large per cent of them are uneducated and ignorant. When times are bad and conditions unsettled, bandits take advantage of the opportunity to rob and pillage and abuse not only Americans in Mexico but everybody else. We have had no quarrel with the Mexican government so far as it has a government, but it has been with the lawless element which the government down there has been unable to control. We might have gone into Mexico and made war, killing a lot of innocent people down there and getting a lot of good American boys killed, all because of these uncontrolled bandits. Where would there be any glory in that, and what would be gained? It would have taken a half million men an indefinite time to police the country until it could be left to shift for itself. He called attention to the fact that the Republicans twenty years ago undertook that kind of a job over in the Philippines, and we are still on the job. Many American lives have been lost in the Philippines and millions of money wasted, and yet there is no end in sight. We might have overpowered the people of Mexico and taken the country, but what for, and who wants them as citizens of this country, voting and helping to make our laws? The president did not recognize Huerta. Mr. Huerta was conceded to be a red-handed murderer whom Mr. Taft would not recognize, and if this Christian nation had recognized him the followers of Madero down there would have overthrown him.

Discusses Foreign Situation.

He then paid attention to the foreign situation across the waters. He said that when cotton was 4 cents a pound and the people of the south were suffering, he had urged the president to a more vigorous course. The president had gone ahead in what he believed to be the just course, and we are still at peace and cotton is now 16 cents a pound. He told the people that Mr. Roosevelt's idea of taking every German ship in American waters would have meant war without the shadow of a doubt, and what would it have settled. Republican speakers complain because the president has settled nothing. Would war have settled anything? England and Germany went to war. Has it settled anything yet? He called attention to the fact that the great Lincoln was confronted with the same sort of problems during the civil war. England had threatened the coast with her navy and a bunch of soldiers had come down from Canada into New England. Mr. Lincoln, too, had written notes, had saved the country from another war with England, and had afterward secured an apology and an indemnity from England.

G. O. P. Policy Means War.

He declared that the policies of Roosevelt, if put into execution, must mean nothing short of war. Mr. Hughes had declared himself in accord with Mr. Roosevelt. Anyway, there are but two courses open to Mr. Hughes if elected. One is to go to war and follow Roosevelt. The other is to keep the peace and follow Wilson. If they want peace, why not keep the man who has had the experience and who has so far been successful? Senator Smith spoke for an hour and a half and held his audience to the closest attention as he pictured the great work of the administration and pleaded with the Progressives and Republicans to vote for the men who have done the things they want done, even though it be under another party name. Parties, after all, he declared, amount to nothing unless they mean public service.

Democratic Rally Notes.

The national convention pictures shown at the opening of the meeting last night were fine. It took nearly an hour and a half to show them. Albert Kuchs, manager of the Empire theater, had charge of it. Ralph Marcell had taken a number of pictures during the day yesterday, which it was intended to show after the convention film, but as so much time had been taken up, this part was left out so as the speaking could commence.

Wallace Crossley, candidate for lieutenant governor, was in Maryville yesterday, but had to leave on the afternoon train and did not speak at the meeting.

Senator Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McAllister, Congressman Charles F. Booher and Mr. Snyder, representing the St. Louis Republic, were taken to St. Joseph last night after the night meeting by George Robb Ellison and Dr. F. C. Wallis. M. E. Ford and James Todd accompanied them. The party arrived in that city at 1:30 o'clock.

The state candidates who were here yesterday and have attended nearly all of the meetings being held this campaign, were warm in their praises of the Maryville meeting and the splendid audience both afternoon and evening in the big tent.

A 6 o'clock dinner was given at the Linville hotel last evening for Senator Smith, Frank McAllister and Congressman Booher. There were twenty in attendance and included several Democrats from over the county.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician at Chicago, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Archer-Hagey Wedding.

Miss Tina May Archer and Mr. Carl Hagey were united in marriage by Justice Warren Johnson at his office in Maryville at 10 o'clock Friday morning, giving many of their friends quite a surprise. They are now visiting at the home of the groom's parents and may decide to locate in the west this winter.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Archer and has lived in this community a number of years. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hagey and has lived here all his life. The Post joins this young couple's many friends in congratulations.—B. J. Post.

Mrs. Carl Turpin Entertains.

The Women's Missionary society of the Centenary Methodist church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Turpin, Thursday afternoon, October 5. After the business session and adjournment a luncheon was served by Mrs. Turpin. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. W. D. McDonald, Mrs. Ed Sharp, Mrs. Shrewsbury, Mrs. Ed Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kelley, Mrs. A. C. Linville, Mrs. Jesse Linville, Mrs. Eslinger, Mrs. Broyles, Mrs. Roy Slawson, Fred King, Miss Lillian Turpin, and the hostess.

Birthday Surprise.

Last Saturday being Mrs. Albert Griffey's birthday, her husband sprang a pleasant surprise on her by inviting a few of her friends in to spend the evening. About 8 o'clock the guests arrived, just as Mrs. Griffey was starting to town, and to say she was completely surprised does not express it.

The fore part of the evening was spent in music and a social good time. About 11 o'clock an elaborate lunch was served, which had been prepared by the guests. Mrs. Griffey received many nice and useful presents, among them a beautiful seal plush coat from her husband. About 12 o'clock the guests departed to their homes wishing Mrs. Griffey many happy returns of her birthday.

Those present were Wayne Ingram and wife, Will Bush and wife, Harve Bush and wife, Charles Wagner and wife, Jim Combs and wife, Jeff Frymire and wife, Will Linebaugh and wife, Ed Griffey and wife, Fred Griffey, wife and children, Mrs. James Griffey, Mrs. Ella Hodges, Miss Ollie Carpenter, Jake Combs, Wilma and Wilbur Bush and Jess Gray.—Clearmont News.

Charles Caldwell to Wed.

In honor of her sister, Miss Vern Calhoun, Mrs. Johnston Calhoun entertained a company of friends in her home, at 12613 Detroit avenue, Cleveland, O. The occasion was to announce the engagement of Miss Calhoun to Charles Caldwell of Burlington Junction, Mo.

The guests, forty in number, arrived at 8 o'clock. After a short musical program, the wedding march was played, Master Russel Randall and his sister, Kathryn, aged 9 and 7 respectively, dressed as bride and groom, marched down the stairway. The little bride carried upon her arm a decorated basket filled with written announcements. Each guest was presented with a tiny envelope. After they were distributed all read at the same time, and it was a complete surprise.

The brother of the bride-to-be was entrusted with the ring, and in a few well chosen words, he presented to her a beautiful diamond in behalf of the absent fiancé. The dining room was artistically decorated in pink and green. At the center table were seated the bride-elect, with her mother and other members of the family, together with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Randall, the parents of the little bride and groom. The guests departed with showers of best wishes.—B. J. Post.

Mrs. Corken Hostess to Club.

The members of the C. C. club enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. James Corken, who entertained them Wednesday afternoon at her home. Roll call was answered with "A New Idea." An interesting program was given under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Hiles. Subject, "American Literature." Mrs. Phil Corken talked on "Later Colonial Literature and the Rise of Journalism." Mrs. Mark Hiles, "Establishing of Colleges." The program was concluded with a recitation by Helen May Corken.

The visitors for the afternoon were Mrs. Frank Nicholas, and Mrs. Mark Bryant of Yoder, Colo., who is the guest of relatives here. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Elmer Corken in serving refreshments to her guests. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. C. Hiles and Miss Bernice, Oct. 18, with Mrs. James Corken leader.—Burlington Junction Post.

MAN SHOT IN STRIKE.

Rioting at Bayonne Continues Throughout the Night. Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Bayonne, N. J., Oct. 13.—An unidentified employee of the General Chemical company was shot to death this morning by the strike sympathizers, according to the police. The rioting continued throughout the night, and it is stated that more than a thousand shots were fired in the darkness.

A big new discovery in cigarette blending

The big thing about Chesterfields is their unique blend. The Chesterfield blend is an entirely new combination of tobaccos. This blend is the most important new development in cigarette making in 20 years.

As a result, Chesterfields produce a totally new kind of cigarette enjoyment—they satisfy! Just like a "bite" before bedtime satisfies when you're hungry.

But with all that, Chesterfields are MILD, too!

This new enjoyment (satisfy, yet mild) comes ONLY in Chesterfields because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend.

GERMANS OUTWITTED

T. GALLAGHER, ENGLISH SOLDIER, RELATES EXPERIENCE.

Tells How He Saved His Own Life and Took Two Snipers Prisoners By Presence of Mind.

London, Oct. 1.—How he outwitted two German snipers and made them prisoners on his twenty-fourth birthday was told here today by Private T. Gallagher, in a letter to a friend. He says:

"For three days in succession our trench had been the object of the unwelcome attention of snipers, whose shots all seemed to come from the ruins of a building about 200 yards away. Several shells and bombs had been dropped all around, but still the snipers continued.

"One evening under the protection of darkness I volunteered to fetch a bucket of water from a well that had been located by our airmen, and which lay about a hundred yards farther on than the spot supposed to be occupied by the snipers.

"I took off my tunic, rolled up what was left of my shirt sleeves, and off I went as quietly as a ghost. I had to go a round-about way to avoid the snipers.

"I got to the well all right, filled the bucket to the brim, and then made for the rear of the snipers. The jingling noise made by the handle of the bucket betrayed me, and I was quickly challenged by two of the enemy, who covered me with their rifles.

"I mumbled something in reply, and this must have saved the situation. For a moment the Germans took me for one of their own men and, instead of firing point blank, they begged me to give them a drink, at the same time laying down their rifles.

"One of them had a good swig, and then held the bucket to the lips of the other. While they were thus occupied I whipped out my revolver and presented it full at them. They seemed too astonished for words, and down went the bucket and up went their hands."

KEEP ARCTIC PORTS OPEN

Norwegian Company Formed to Maintain Much Larger Winter Service in the North.
London, October 11.—The war is responsible for a number of interesting experiments in connection with the shipping of the Arctic. Following the example of Russia in keeping Archangel open for a much longer period than was formerly the case, Sweden has decided to make use of powerful icebreakers at its northern ports near which most of the sawmills and a large number of iron and electric-chemical works are situated.

Hitherto the traffic in winter time has gone via Norway, but it is hoped now to divert this through national channels. A new Norwegian company has just been formed to maintain a service between the east coast of England and the Kara Sea during the open navigation season, and shipments from the United Kingdom will consist chiefly of machinery.

Studies His Patients.

Dr. Prettyman studies his patients and learns their individual characteristics and their physical peculiarities. Knowing these it is not difficult for a good diagnostician to know exactly their diseases and what measures to employ to get tangible results.

This close personal and intimate study of individual cases is necessary for intelligent and effective medication. To these methods is due Dr. Prettyman's reputation and the confidence his successful use of medicine inspires in his patients. You can consult him free at the Linville Hotel, Monday, October 16.

CARRANZA LOSING POWER?

Reports From Mexico Indicate That Mexican Leader Has Alienated Nearly All Loyal Supporters. Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Extremely disquieting reports from Mexico from a half dozen sources were received today, indicating that Carranza has finally alienated practically all of his former loyal military supporters. His elimination as a factor in the present military crisis is declared certain before the first of the year. Some reports have him actually in flight, but these are neither confirmed or generally credited. What the outcome will be if Carranza is overthrown is hard to forecast.
